

“Congratulations on such a wonderful book. I am not the editor of U. S. Cosmo now, but I will be passing the word along unofficially.”

- Helen Gurly Brown, Editor-In-Chief
Cosmopolitan International Editions

“Here is a guidebook – a journal – diary – that could save your life and provide vital life-enhancing information about you for your future caregivers. Here is your means to influence what your future caregivers will know about you and how they can interact with you.”

- “Amazon” Editor

“This book can serve as a useful “gift” to your clients and a valuable tool in helping to secure their future needs.”

- NPC Financial Services

“What a great idea this is! You’ll be surprised at the completeness of the lists in the book and the insights Marrella presents.

- Borders Review

This guide will enable each of us to provide an insider’s look at who we are and tell our future caregivers what they will need to know in order to provide us with the best care possible.”

- Ingram Customer Services, Inc.

“This isn’t a book that you would throw away when you’re finished caring for the person who recorded the information in it. Future generations can use it to learn more about a [relative] they never knew.”

- Susan Shelley. Correspondent
